

Happy October from the Peaches classroom...

This month we have been busy learning about farm animals and all things fall. Our pretend play center turned into a “pumpkin patch” and “apple orchard”. The peaches friends have been building friendships and working on social interactions with their peers. It has been observed that each child is making great progress with the routines of the classroom and are making great strides to explore our environment. We will continue to learn about pumpkins, leaves, and apples until November. We can’t wait for our farm trip coming up at the end of month. Hope you enjoy our pictures! 😊
